

Father's Day Activities

Father's Day is coming up!

Here's an idea that the kids can give to Dad for some quality time together, or just to help him get in touch with his inner child!

This project is PERFECT! Depending on your kids, they might even be able to do this all by themselves!

All you have to do to make your own box of Father's Day Activities is download, print, cut, fold and stuff each activity into a Wooden Bits and Pieces box.

That's it. Easy peasy and you've got yourself a Father's Day gift to check off your to-do list. Even better, if your kids can handle a pair of scissors, all you have to do is print out the page for them. Let them do the rest!

Go enjoy the great outdoors! Go on a hike or ride a bike together!

Have a movie night together! Let Dad pick a film and snacks!

Spoil dad with a breakfast in bed!

Spend the day working on a DIY project (eg. a birdhouse) together!

Fire up the BBQ and have a feast together!

Play video games together!

Plan a zoom party with your dad and grandpa!

Prepare a scavenger hunt (Hide his gifts! *wink*)

Do some crazy science experiments with dad. (eg. Homemade slime or make invisible ink)
